Message from the CO - COMMODORE JOHN YELVERTON

Alright everybody! Put on your tinfoil hat! It's time for Conspiracy Theory! Actually, it's more of a fan theory, but here goes. While watching Star Trek Beyond, I remember Dr. McCoy telling Spock that the shrapnel was centimeters from his heart. The shrapnel was sticking out of his right side, near what we would call our appendix. Fast forward to September's meeting at Zeek'z. We watched the episode "Mudd's Women". In that episode, Dr. McCoy says that the Vulcan heart is on the left side. Gasp! Continuity error!? What could cause this huge snafu? Was Simon Pegg watching the episode in the mirror? Gasp!!!

It all makes sense! The J.J. Abrams movies make place in the mirror universe! Emotional Vulcans. The Nazi Starfleet uniforms. Uhura's uniform not having sleeves. Spock, Marcus, "Cupcake" and other Starfleet officers trying to kill Kirk. Orions in Starfleet. The dreadnought class. Admiral Marcus bent on wiping out the Klingon Empire. Plus the Defiant went back in time with Hoshi Sato would explain the souped up Enterprise, and the fancy phasers and communicators. On and on it goes.

Yes, there are a couple of holes in my fan theory, but oh, it would make it so nice if it were. Then I could say that these imitations of the characters I love are merely mirror reflections seen through a glass darkly. I say this, because 50 years ago the greatest ensemble cast in television history was gathered together for the greatest show in television history, and in 50 years, nothing has surpassed it. Here's to you Star Trek and to another 50 years.

Special "Thank You" to XO Ryan Case for his awesome help with the newsletter.

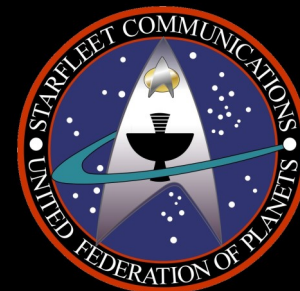

Glenn & I had a wonderful time attending Creation Entertainment's Official Star Trek 50th Anniversary Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada on August 3 – 7, 2016 at the Rio Suites Hotel. Every activity was in this hotel with a large convention area. As stated at the convention, it was indeed an amazing time for Trek fans of all ages, with a hot new film, a epic new TV series coming in 2017, and a sense of great history as Trek turns 50 years young! It was a global event offering a five-day program of stars on stage, panel discussions, an awesome vendor room, evening dinner parties at THE VOODOO LOUNGE at the top of the Rio Casino Masquerade Tower (special ticket required), costume contest, autographs, photo ops and so much more!

There was an art display called "Star Trek: 50 Artists. 50 Years". There was an art piece by Leonard Nimoy in this group. A lot of these art pieces had prints available for purchase. It was also a somewhat bittersweet time as they looked back on so many beloved personalities who have passed on. The convention was dedicated to all of those who helped make Star Trek the greatest adventure.

05-934720

If I had to tell what was the most exciting things we did, I would have to say: We saw Whoopi Goldberg on stage (it was her first Star Trek Convention appearance in Las Vegas) & we had a photo op with her. Such a wonderful lady!

06-758106

We saw Jeri Ryan for the first time on stage and also had a photo op with her. She is such a beautiful lady!

We saw Kirstie Alley, Saavik of Star Trek II, on stage for the first time (this was her first Star Trek Convention appearance). We got her autograph.

07-846821

There was so many events going on the main stage and a secondary stage, you had to decide what you wanted to do the most. So much to see and do and so little time! It was great to see all the actors from Star Trek on stage in their panels. The number of people in the audience on the weekend was 6,000. This was the biggest ever attendance there and a very special 50th Anniversary Celebration was enjoyed by all.

Live Long & Prosper, Star Trek!

The theme for IC 2016 was "Trekin' II: Horsing around on the Ohio!" We raced to the future as we took you out to the holodeck and explored NASA and celebrated Star Trek's 50th Anniversary. The conference hotel was the Crowne Plaza Airport Louisville. The hotel had plenty of roomy rooms to host all meetings, panels, merchandise dealers, and fun times. We had all the traditional activities such as Opening Ceremonies and Awards, General Session, Ask the Brass, Charity Auction, Music and Dance, Marine Mess and Saturday night banquet. Some unique concurrent sessions/panels were planned, such as The Star Trek Barkeep, Prop making 101, Star Trek Celebrations, Sports around the Federation, Star Trek and Religion, Making Prostheses, STARFLEET Special Ops, the National Space Society and more. - Notes From Programing Chair - Region 3, Vice Admiral Lucy Ferron Franck

'Star Trek' Lives Long and Prospers on 50th Anniversary

"Star Trek" has lived long and prospered.

Fifty years ago Thursday Gene Roddenberry's visionary TV series debuted on NBC. It was not an instant success — in fact, it was canceled just three years later — but a famously devoted fan base kept the sci-fi epic alive and it has since spawned numerous hit TV spin-offs and over a dozen blockbuster films that have dominated the box office for 35 years.

The show, which followed the exploits of a 23rd century crew of interstellar explorers (working for the fictional United Federation of Planets, or "Federation"), distinguished itself with its intricate plotlines that often featured prescient social commentary, and its colorful cast of characters including the logical half-human Spock, the compassionate Dr. "Bones" McCoy and the purely passionate Captain James T. Kirk.

And, like so many other pop culture phenomenon, fans have projected all sorts of sociopolitical meanings onto "Star Trek" in the decades since it first aired..

Some of our USS Haise crew members would like to share what Star Trek means to them

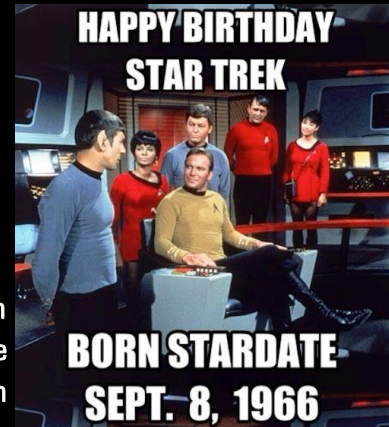

Clay Bartunek, Lt. Commander, Chief of Operations

50 Years of Star Trek! I've always loved Star Trek. The 1st time I saw it I didn't know what it was. My father told me it was a science fiction movie. What I was actually watching was the first original broadcast of "Spock's Brain". Yes, I'm old. Thanks to my childhood friend, Chip Nichols, I discovered the series in syndication. In grade school we would play "Star Trek" with my neighborhood friends. I was

SPOCK'S BRAIN

Dr. McCoy, my favorite character. My favorite episode of TOS is "Devil in the Dark". It wasn't about just a monster. It had a "reason" for its action, and a good one at that. To me, Star Trek promotes hope for the future and that everyone (regardless of race, gender, nationality, age, sexual orientation, ability, etc.) is equal, included and worthy. Let the journey continue with Star Trek Discovery!

Commodore Ryan Case -

Star Trek has been an integral part of my life - I can remember at 5 or 6 years old, sitting on the loveseat in my parent's home, watching episode after episode of TNG with my dad. It's so ingrained in me and I've modeled so much about Riker's character that every time I see him, I notice my mannerisms as a part of him. The only thing further I can think to say about the 50th anniversary of Star Trek is a direct quote I heard from Brent Spiner during a panel:

"Star Trek is the great American Epic. There's no end in sight and there never will be. And it's really cool to be a part of that big epic."

Hearing the opening theme of every show has a calming effect on me to this day. I love that I found SFI and have had a chance to entangle it with my life. I sincerely look forward to another 50 years of 'boldy going'.

Lt. Commander Barbara Allen -

As a now senior citizen, I was a 14-year-old teenager when Star Trek beamed onto TV. I never got to see it until in the 1970's when it was being rebroadcast. Our TV station in the 1960's did not show it for some reason! I grew up in the age of US Space exploration beginnings. I loved watching about space and perhaps dreamed of being an astronaut like many kids did at that time. It just seemed so logical that we would go to the moon and beyond. Watching Star Trek was so exciting because there you see what great possibilities lay ahead for future space exploration – we can dream! I loved the characters. My favorite was always Mr. Spock. I grew to love Star Trek more and more with each new series and movies that developed over the years. And after meeting Glenn, my husband who loved all sci-fi also, we began a great collection of everything Star Trek collectibles. Then we later discovered the Creation Entertainment Star Trek Conventions held Las Vegas, NV and have attended several. WOW! I was so excited to finally get to meet so many of the Star Trek actors. What an awesome experience to get their autographs and photo ops. My most favorite treasured photo ops were with Leonard Nimoy, Mr. Spock, and Patrick Stewart, Captain Picard. What a great experience to share those times with our daughter, Michelle. She grew up watching Star Trek: Next Generation. It was so wonderful to see her delight of Star Trek thru her eyes. I look forward to seeing in person more of the new Star Trek actors. Hope you keep giving us more great movies!

From The University of Mississippi Medical Center, Jackson, Mississippi

As the Star Trek franchise celebrates 50 years of taking fans to the far reaches of the galaxy, we would like to pay tribute to one of UMMC's most famous graduates – although, he won't officially be a student here for another 233 years.

12-635487

Leonard McCoy, Chief Medical Officer of the USS Enterprise, graduated from the University of Mississippi in 2249, followed by his getting his M.D. at UMMC in 2253.

12-983014

"Bones" has always been noted as a Georgia native and multiple degree recipient of Ole Miss, but this information was cemented in Star Trek history during a 1996 time-travel episode of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine, one of the original series' many spin-offs, titled "Trials and Tribble-ations." A DS9 crew member, Dax, remembers meeting him around 2245 during her visit to the Oxford campus.

Greetings Crew!

I'll just say that this last quarter has been... trying... but first, the positive stuff! I can honestly say that we have one of the best ships in the Fleet. Our movie night for the Beyond premier was excellent and we had serious success with the recruitment event association with it. I was very happy with the movie and I know many of you were as well. I eagerly anticipate another Abrams-verse film with Simon Pegg's writing involved. It was also an utter joy to have you guys all be the first people we told (really!) about Ann's pregnancy. The pool party at the McNeil's was fantastic, as always, but I really want to see more of you at the actual POOL part, haha! I hated to miss the September meeting but there's only one thing on this planet that trumps my love for Star Trek... and that's Disney. More on that in a moment...

The IC this year was (at best) strange. There was huge contention for the current Commander, Starfleet and I, unfortunately, was right in the middle of it. I did my best to respect the wishes of the Region and although we failed to make a change - I feel that we made an impression with the closeness of the vote. I eagerly await the election of the next CS and working alongside them during their term. Speaking of terms, my first is slowly coming to an end, but (so you all know) I am planning on seeking reelection for a second term. I have chosen Mike Brown of the USS Neptune for my VCS due to the departure of my good friend Bruce Dolan. My next article will be about him as I don't want to write his eulogy before he's been laid to rest.

Lastly, off of the sadness, Disney World was absolutely fantastic. Ann and I had an absolute blast for our 6th Anniversary where we made our public baby announcement and attempted to eat exclusively at restaurants and ride rides that one or both of us had never done before. We're making a go at "doing it all" - it's a crazy dream, but you gotta try... right?

Message from Chief of Operations - Lt. Commander Clay Bartunek

19-998210

I must admit that beforehand I was a little concerned about the most recent installment of Star Trek, "Star Trek Beyond", but after viewing it in July, I found it to be great! We held a recruitment night on July 22nd in the lobbies of the 3 metro area theaters. I was at Malco with Jason & Linda. We had a great time, but only got 3 to sign up; however, several folks did stop by to visit and take business cards. Then we all saw the movie together as a ship at Malco the following night with dinner beforehand at Dickie's Barbeque Pit. I can't wait for the DVD to come out in November.

20-634851

Our August monthly meeting at the McNeil's home Aug. 20th was tasty as usual. Thanks to Scott's parent's for hosting and cooking.

20-753912

Haise's 3rd movie night was at my home on Friday, Sept. 2nd. Galaxy Quest was chosen for our feature. Even though it doesn't say Star Trek, it's really all about Star Trek. We enjoyed Cane's chicken strips, mashed potatoes, brownies, popcorn, mac & cheese, biscuits, etc. The next one is at Ryan & Ann's house on Friday evening, December 2nd. Hope you all can make it.

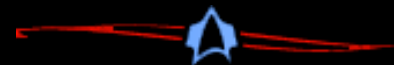

21-854122

Zeek's House of Gyros was our meeting spot for our September 17th monthly meeting. I love gyros and the fact that they had a private room for us. Let's keep this place on our calendar for next year.

Our 3rd Philanthropy project of the year is the Mississippi Diabetes Walk, Sunday, October 2nd in Jackson. Hope you all can participate and/or get sponsors for this worthy cause.

22-002145

See you at our Masquerade Party at Broadmeadow United Methodist Church Oct. 15th. As of now, I have no idea what my costume will be. There's a lot of pressure on me with winning the contest the last 2 years in a row! See you there.

AGGGGGH!

The Diabetes Foundation of Mississippi is once again 2.5 people understaffed at the worst time of year. Hence when I have a rare day off, all I can do is try to catch up on housework/ yardwork. <bleah.> Three walks down and 4 to go plus Camp Kandu before Mid November.

20-634851

Here is a taste of what we do with it. Backpacks for newly diagnosed children which include the obvious happies plus age appropriate books and info for the child and parents. These are often delivered to the hospital by our Kandu Kids who got them when THEY were diagnosed Sweet Subject school boxes for the schools which have children with diabetes are filled with testing supplies and information plus treatments for highs and lows. The Nurse handbook is chock full of useful info for the parents, physicians, school staff and students, and a DFM employee visits the school for an in-service to teach the teachers, staff, bus drivers and other staff with whom

Trip to Mobile and Orange Beach Alabama for the MS Society:

I've been doing a lot of "Adulging" lately as part of my role on the Board of Trustees and Government Relations Chair for the AL/MS Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. In August I went down to Biloxi for the Bike/Walk Mississippi Summit, advocating for accessible streets and sidewalks. A month later, I traveled via Greyhound to Mobile and Orange Beach to speak at two MS fundraisers. I get inspired talking to all the people who donate to end this disease and enjoyed taking photographs of the BIKE MS 150 "Tour de Beach" cycling event. As most of you know, I was a huge cycling fan before I got MS, so I get a lot of vicarious enjoyment cheering on and photographing the riders.

"Keep Building Jackson" LEGO Display to Add UNION STATION:

My LEGO creation, "Keep Building Jackson" is my vision of a clean, friendly, and accessible capital city. It's my occupational/cognitive and emotional therapy, but also my metaphor for living with multiple sclerosis: "Build with what you have left." This year adds my most complicated structure yet, a complete rendition of the multimodal transportation hub: Jackson's Union Station, on the corner of Capitol Street and Mill Street. It has a raised train platform, bus depot, and plenty of bicycle parking. The rooftop garden includes "pickable" carrots!

The display will open the first week of December at the Arts Center of Mississippi, 201 East Pascagoula Street, in the upstairs gallery. It shows until January 15th. Don't miss it!

It has been a very busy summer! July was a big month for Ryan and I. It is when we first learned we were pregnant and expecting a new cadet to our group. Our July meeting was so awesome! I loved the new movie that came out. Beyond went above and beyond my expectations and the end where they acknowledged both Nimoy and Yelchin. Ryan and I also had a lot of fun the weekend before working the table at Tinseltown for the opening Saturday night. We had a ton of people come over and sign up with us. Moving out of July and into August things got busier. I headed back to school for teaching and Ryan was leaving that week for IC so we had a lot to do and get done in a very short amount of time. Then we had the awesome pool party at the McNeil's. Where fewer and fewer people are coming to swim which is very sad. But the meeting was still a large event. Stepping into September we started our first weekend off right with Star Trek Movie Night at Clay's. We had a ton of fun quoting along with Galaxy Quest and making comparisons to Star Trek. Moving into September Ryan and I went to Disney World for a whole week for our anniversary/babymoon. This is where we made our announcement to the world about Baby Case. We had tons of fun! Had to miss out on September's meeting because of a wedding, but so is life. Looking forward to the continuing Fall and all of my favorite meetings with my favorite people!

Hello crew mates of the U.S.S. Haise!

I have been missing in action due to school and just plain re-evaluating life at 40. Yes, BIG 40! You know I look over my life and I said to myself, I have been a TREKKIE since I was 6 years old (thanks to my big sister Eleanor). This wagon train to the stars, where all types of people regarding of gender, nationality, race, or socioeconomic status could live in peace; disease, poverty and hungry are mostly a myth due to Gene Roddenberry vision. Star Trek has become a culture, a paradigm, an innovative way of looking at what the human race can become. My hope is that the next generation, that is soon to come behind me will embrace this make believed society and bring it to fruition. Star Trek lighted a spark in me, God knows what it just might do for others!

Thanks Gene!
